

Richard Rosenberger

Hart Industries is pleased to welcome Richard Rosenberger as Operations Director. Richard has 25 years of progressively responsible experience in directing all aspects of flexographic printing, including graphics, ink, color and print management. Richard brings expertise in all stages, aspects and modes of print production. He will support and engineer the implementation of a new print line - from allocation and procurement to specifications and design.

As Operations Manager at Hart, Richard will spearhead the execution of all Flexo printing initiatives, pre-print electronic media and process improvements. He will also oversee production managers and departmental structure, recommend equipment enhancements, drive project management, and complete cost-reduction initiatives.

Richard's specialty is troubleshooting and instituting best practices in print management, with a focus on continuous improvement, standardization of consumables, lean manufacturing, and making recommendations for technological advancements.

Prior to Hart, Richard was Operations Director with Solo Cup and Sweetheart Cup. As member of the national Flexographic Technical Association, Richard is a frequent speaker and presenter, supporting the shared knowledge of the flexographic community.
